The fate of Harry Thaw will probably be known tomorrow evening as the case will then be in the hands of the jury, Attorney Delmas began his argument for the defense yesterday, and made a sympathetic plea to the jury, pausing at different times to launch terrible invective against Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's mother, Stanford White and Abe Hummel, the notorious New York divorce lawyer; Delmas will conclude today, and District Attorney Jerome expects to finish his speech for the prosecution tomorrow forenoon——In a fire in which one fireman was killed and several injured, the car barn and power plant of the New York City Railway Company was destroyed yesterday, the loss being $1,500,000——E. When a letter contains anything of an incendiary nature it should be burned.

Once more, dear friend, it is always much safer to burn a letter that needs burning.

There wouldn't be so many brain storms if there wasn't so much unwritten law.

In President Roosevelt's book about the Spanish war he tells of a Spaniard whom he shot in the back—"the one I killed." Unlike the Spaniard, Harriman faced the President in it.

Many a man who will rush up to the protographer's to have himself photographed in his uniform will chuckle about a woman and her Easter hat.

A New York woman hit her husband in the head with a lump of coal because he called to see an operatic star. Foolish woman! A lick like that would only make her husband see more stars.

The people who will finance that $5,000,000 conspiracy probably are the ones who financed the Roosevelt campaign on suspicion that he wouldn't do a thing to "vested rights."

Harriman thinks Roosevelt hasn't got any policy. Harriman ought to know better than that, for he was one of the fellows who paid the premium on the policy.

If this thing of photographing a man's breath is true and married ladies get to handling cameras, married men will be cautious about blowing about the good time they had down town.

All Republican politicians who do not give Roosevelt the wink when they play their cards will be ruled out of the game. They may not be inducted into the Ananias Club but they will surely be consigned to the "Rich Man's Conspiracy."

It is now said that $5,000,000 conspiracy story was told at the White House by Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, as a joke. "How did the President take the joke?" asks a New York paper. It seems that he took it and made a good deal of political capital out of it.

This we get from the Richmond Times-Dispatch: "Sings a Southern poetess: 'I am a reed in a stilly stream.' All right—all right; but we do hope that she has her rubbers on." Think of what a crowd would gather on the bank to rubber at the reed.

RESIGNS AS RECTOR

Library of Congress

Ve... Dr. James Carmichael Retires From Active Charge of St. John's Parish.

ANNOUNCEMENT SUNDAY

Quarter of Century in Service of Church and Humankind—Will Remain as Rector-Emeritus, Occupying Rectory Here.

The venerable Reverend James Carmichael, D. D., for the past quarter of a century rector of St. John's Protestant Episcopal parish, of this city, on Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service, announced to his congregation that with reluctance, on account of the increasing infirmities of his age, he had found it necessary to resign as rector, giving up the active work of the parish. The announcement was received with the most sincere regret not only by members of Dr. Carmichael's own parish, but by the people of Wilmington at large, for his work in the community has been one of humanity and in divers ways, not heralded in the newspapers, the influence of this man of God has been felt. He gave ear to the call of sickness and distress, it mattered not whence and wherever it came. No place, no environment was so deeply steeped in sin and degredation that he did not enter to lend a helping hand or to give a word of encouragement.

The regret at the announcement that Dr. Carmichael is to give up the active work of the parish is tempered with the further announcement that he remains with St. John's as rector-emeritus, occupying and having the free use of the rectory on Red Cross street as long as he lives. He will remain in charge of the services of the church until a new rector is inducted into office and his kindly presence will still be felt in the community. This is cause for great satisfaction among his friends in Wilmington, and it is a pleasure for them to know that he will be entirely relieved, at the advanced age of 74 years, of the ever-increasing duties of the parish, still living among a people whom it has ever been a pleasure for him to serve as rector or as mankind to mankind. Among the whole people of Wilmington fidelity to Dr. Carmichael has amounted to singular devotion. He was especially held in the highest esteem by the substantial colored people of the community and more than once the kindly offices of this fine, old Southern gentleman have been invoked in matters that made for welfare and uplift of the race. Dr. Carmichael would go to any length in the prosecution of a principle that he believed to be right and it is this one distinguishing trait in his character that has made him a man among men. This was strikingly illustrated in his personal efforts with the President of the United States in the case of the two colored mutineers in jail at Wilmington condemned to die. Dr. Carmichael went to Washington, sought out the President, in a two hours' interview told the Chief Executive his feelings in the matter, conferred with the powers that be in the Department of Justice and carried his point in the face of overwhelming odds for a less determined man. It is good that Dr. Carmichael is to remain in Wilmington and that the community is to have the influence of his presence and his counsel in affairs. Through a long and useful life, in Virginia, in Kentucky, in Tennessee and in North Carolina, he has earned the rest and retirement that will be his during his declining years.

The letter of resignation of Dr. Carmichael to his vestry as read at the service at St. John's Sunday morning is as follows:

"St. John's Rectory, Wilmington, N. C., Easter Monday.

"To the Vestry of St. John's Church, Wilmington, N. C.:

"Dear Brethren—The rapidly increasing infirmities of age force me to prayerful and conscientious conclusion that the time has come for me to lay down the duties of rector of your parish, which I hereby do. Deeply painful as the severance of the tender and prolonged ties which have grown up between us is to me, yet the conviction that a longer continuance of my official relationship with you is a hindrance to the work of God in St. John's and, an injustice to my wife and myself. I most reluctantly take this positive stand.

"Thanking you from my heart for all you have done for me, and praying God's best blessings on you and your parish, I am yours in our dear Lord,

"J. CARMICHAEL."

CAROLINA BOOKLET

Current Number Just Issued—Wilmington Contributors—Social Evil Crusade—Grand Council Royal Arcanum News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 8.—The North Carolina Booklet, published by the North Carolina Society, Daughters of the Revolution, is just out, and is an especially interesting and creditable number, leading articles being "North Carolina's Attitude to the Revolution," by Robert C. Strong; "John Lawson," by Marshall DeLancey Haywood; "Some Overlooked North Carolina History," by J. T. Alderman; "The White Pictures," by W. J. Peele, and "Biographical Sketches," by Mrs. E. E. Moffitt. The editors of the booklet are Mrs. Moffitt and Miss Mary Hilliard Hinton, who serve without compensation, all the proceeds of the booklet going to the noble work of the society, notably at present to the memorial to the Edenton Tea Party soon to be erected by the Daughters of the Revolution.

The announcement of the contents of volume 7 of the booklet includes articles on "North Carolina in the French and Indian War," by Col. Alfred Moore Waddell; "Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry," by Judge James C. MacRae; "General Robert Howe," by Hon. Jno. D. Bellamy; "Permanent Settlement of the Lower Cape Fear," by W. B. McKoy, Esq., of Wilmington; "Colonial Education," by Robert Brent Drane, D. D., and others.

Mrs. Margaret Busbee Shipp, of this city, has been officially notified that the government will name one of the new sixty-foot steamers to be used in the harbor work of the coast artillery in honor of her lamented husband, Lt. W. E. Shipp, of the Tenth Cavalry, who lost his life at San Juan Hill during the Cuban war.

Only about eight of the cases against seventy-odd women for vagrancy and conducting disreputable houses instituted in Justice of the Peace H. Roberts' court two weeks ago, have ever come to trial and half of those were dismissed for want of evidence sufficient to convict. A great number of those against whom warrants were issued have fled the city. Eleven white women skipped out in one night recently.

The Grand Council Royal Arcanum will meet here in eighteenth annual session tomorrow afternoon. There will be a big barbecue at the State fair grounds, at which the address of welcome to the delegates will be delivered by Mr. Joseph G. Brown, president of the Chamber of Commerce. Probably 100 delegates are expected.

ROYAL VENETIAN BAND.

Premier Musical Attraction at Academy This Week.

The sale of seats for the concert to be given at the Academy Wednesday night by Sig. Calfatty Victor's Royal Venetian band, went on sale yesterday. The price of seats is $1, as per special arrangements, and the attraction is a guaranteed one. It will, no doubt, be greeted by a large audience, as it is the only concert offering of the season, and upon its financial success will depend whether or not other musical attractions of its class are to be brought to the Academy management to Wilmington.

The programme offered by this superb musical organization has never been surpassed, it is said, by any band.

Oscar Hammerstein, the veteran New York theatrical manager who brought Creatore and the other great band leaders to this country, gives the following hearty endorsement to Victor:

"I take great pleasure in recommending Victor's Royal Venetian band, which is composed of prominent artists under the excellent conductorship of Signor Victor. During their engagement, which lasted two months, on my Paradise Roof Garden, they have met with the most hearty approval of the audience and great applause was accorded them at every performance."

FUNERAL OF MR. MATTHEWS

Remains Laid to Rest After Funeral Sunday Afternoon.

From the residence of his son, No. 607 South Front street, Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock impressive funeral services were conducted over the remains of the late Mr. D. W. Matthews, whose death occurred rather suddenly Saturday night. Rev. A. D. McClure, D. D., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, officiated and a large number of friends of the deceased and family were in attendance upon the obsequies. The floral offerings were very pretty indeed.

The interment was in Bellevue cemetery, the pall-bearers having been Messrs. T. J. Rann, Jeff Smith, W. E. Mayo, Adolph Nelson, James T. Stewart and G. J. Beach. Mrs. C. I. Kline, of Newark, N. J., was unable to come to Wilmington for the funeral of her father as she had expected, the distance being too great for her to reach here in time.

Steamer Sea Gate Sold.

It was learned yesterday from an authoritative source that the steamer Sea Gate, of the Wilmington, Southport & Little River Transportation Company, has been sold. While particulars are not yet given out, it is said that the steamer will go to the port of Savannah.

IN SUPERIOR COURT

Two Weeks' Term For Trial of Civil Causes Convened Here Yesterday.

DIFFICULTY OF JURY SYSTEM

Seemed Well Nigh Impossible to Get Panel in Land Suit of Smith Against Moore—Two Other Cases Continued.

The two weeks' term of New Hanover Superior Court for the trial of civil causes immediately following the one week term for the trial of criminal actions was convened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, Judge B. F. Long presiding. The entire day was spent in selecting a jury to try the important land suit of Miss Louise B. Smith against Mrs. Susan E. Moore, Executrix, and others, involving the title to the property valued at about $5,000 at northeast corner of Second and Red Cross streets. The jury was finally empanelled at 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and, the hearing of the testimony will begin this morning upon the convening of court at 9:30 o'clock. It is expected that all of today and a part of tomorrow will be required to complete the hearing.

Upon the convening of court yesterday morning Sheriff Cowan returned the following jurors summoned for the week: Messrs. Joseph W. Yates, J. W. Smith, W. J. Kirkham, L. S. Belden, G. D. Phares, Julius P. Taylor, John Wannamaker, H. A. Burr, M. J. Crouse, John S. Poovey, Samuel A. King, T. R. Bryan, H. W. Malloy, John W. Mintz, Timothy Donlan, and George E. Leftwich. Excused by the court: Captain L. S. Belden, Timothy Donlan and J. W. Smith.

By order of the court the case of Etta Hart and others against Josh Simon, which was set on the calendar under protest, was continuel until next term. This is the case involving the lease of the store in the Wilmington Iron Works building, the defendant, a Syrian merchant, refusing to vacate the store about a year ago when it had been rented to Sloan & Sweeney, the hardware firm. Mrs. Hart is represented by ex-Judge E. K. Bryan and the defendant Simon by John D. Bellamy & Son.

The case of Charles Wessell against Thorpe & Applegate also had to be continued on account of the absence of F. A. Applegate, a witness. He was called and failed and fined $80 for his non- appearance. The defendant's counsel made a motion for continuance, it having been stated that it was thought Mr. Applegate had been subpoenaed. The motion by defendant was granted and the plaintiff's counsel, C. D. Weeks, Esq., then made a motion that the cost of the term be taxed against the defendant inasmuch as it was their witness who was absent. This motion was continued until the next term to determine positively whether or not the witness, Applegate, had been summoned.

The case of Miss Smith against Mrs. Moore and others was immediately entered upon and all day long the counsel could not agree on a jury. Ex-Judge E. K. Bryan and Hon. John D. Bellamy & Son appear for the plaintiff while Messrs. Bellamy & Bellamy and Rountree & Carr are looking after the interests of the defendants. The suit was instituted in March 1901 and has been tried once before, judgment being given for plaintiff. The defendants took an appeal to the Supreme Court and on some error in the trial below a new trial was granted. The issues involved are being hard fought and the greatest care was exercised during the day in selecting a jury, both sides exhausting their number of peremptory challenges. It seemed that a jury never would be secured and Judge Long almost despaired of a trial in this county when something like 75 men had been summoned all told and from that number a competent panel could not be secured. He sharply intimated to counsel late in the afternoon that unless they could get a jury, he would feel it his duty to continue the case and pass on to other cases that awaited trial on the docket. The jury was then compleed with the acceptance of Messrs. L. Stein and G. J. McMillan, the entire panel being as follows: Messrs. John Wannamaker, S. A. King, Geo. E. Leftwich, M. J. Crouse, T. R. Bryan, R. F. Hamme, J. A. Taylor, Norwood Huske, J. N. Fennell, J. N. Jacobi, Messrs Stein and McMillan.

Mr. Fennell served on the Snipes jury and is making an effort to be excused from service on this jury on that account, but it is not known whether or not he will be successful. Mr Stein may also be excused on the ground of his not being a freeholder, but these are matters that counsel will argue this morning, if it is permitted by Judge Long.

The only other case on the calendar not reached yesterday was that of A. C. Neilson against the Southern Express Company. This will be continued from day to day on the calendar until it is reached.

Cases set for today, none of which will probably be reached unless there is an unexpected termination of the case in hearing, are F. T. Mills against Atlantic Coast Line; D. C. Love, administrator against Mrs. Elizabeth West and others; Pittsburg Lumber Company against Z. P. Rowe and Rheinstein Dry Goods Company against Bettie McDougall and others.

SEABOARD OFFICERS

President Garrett and Party of S. A. L. Officials Here Yesterday—Conference on Union Depot Matter. Terminal Facilities.

President W. A. Garrett and party of prominent Seaboard Air Line officials arrived on the late train from Hamlet Sunday night and spent yesterday in the city looking over the company's terminals in Wilmington and conferring with Atlantic Coast Line officials on business matters of a private nature. The party travelled in the private cars of Mr. Garrett and General Superintendent C. H. Hix, who with General Manager T. F. Whittlesey, First Vice President L. Sevier, Chief Engineer W. L. Sedden and Division Superintendent J. M. Shea, made up the corps of officials. Yesterday morning the visitors came up town and went down to Wrightsville Beach and Sound, but returned immediately and spent the remainder of the morning and early afternoon in conference with officials of the Coast Line at general headquarters in this city.

While nothing as to the visit of the Seaboard officials was given out for publication, it is known that one object of the visit to Wilmington was to consider the matter of the union depot, which the two systems are required to build here. The officials were in conference with a number of business men also and it is safe to say that there is on foot a compromise by which the two roads hope to have substituted in lieu of a union depot the joint use of the Atlantic Coast Line depot already here and which would be improved to meet the demands of the travelling public. What was accomplished in this respect could not be learned, but it is likely that some agreement along this line will be reached and that union depot facilities will be provided in this manner.

Another matter that will no doubt be undertaken very soon will be the development of the terminal property recently purchased from Messrs. Hall & Pearsall, on the wharf. The Seaboard proposes to greatly enlarge its facilities for doing business here and outward signs of this determination are expected to be in evidence in a short time. The conference with the Atlantic Coast Line officials was, of course, more in reference to the passenger station and general railroad matters than as to what the Seaboard proposes to do on its own account.

RECEIVER IS APPOINTED.

Affairs of Neuralgine Chemical Company Will Be Wound Up.

Upon petition of J. A. Brothers, secretary and treasurer and general manager of the corporation, a receiver was yesterday appointed by Judge Long, in the Superior Court, for the Neuralgine Chemical Company, of Wilmington, with office and laboratory at No. 9 Market street. The court named Woodus Kellum, Esq., temporary receiver, and all parties interested are cited to show cause next Monday before Judge Long why the receivership should not be made permanent. It is set forth in the petition for a receiver that the company is losing money on its operation and that it cannot meet the demands of its creditors promptly. A receiver is wanted to wind up the affairs and distribute the assets equitably among all concerned.

The Neuralgine Chemical Company was chartered two years ago by the Secretary of State with $5,000 capital, fully paid in, the objects being to deal in drugs at wholesale and to manufacture and sell "Neuralgine" and other remedies. Dr. C. T. Harper and Mr. Brothers were the principal incorporators. The assets of the company are roughly estimated at $2,000 with liabilities of something like $6,000, according to the receiver.

COMING OF JAMES O'NEILL.

"Monte Cristo" Will Be the Offering Thursday Night.

Everything possible has been done to make the engagement of James O'Neil in "Monte Cristo" at the Academy, Thursday night, the most satisfying ever given the Dumas play. Mr. O'Neill is so closely identified wfth the character of Edmund Dantes that it is impossible to tell which has the greater drawing power—the actor or the play. That his conception and execution of the role is absolute perfection is proven by the fact of the great reputation he has made in every city of importance in the United States. Follow the fortunes of Edmund Dantes and it is like skimming the pages of a fairy tale, with all the emotions, feelings, ambitions and sordid desires of a man portrayed with a clear and striking hand, and the lessons of life are taught in unmistakable terms. Seats will be on sale Wednesday.

His Leg Broken.

Mr. John Weldon, who lives in the city and is employed by Mr. W. A. McGowan, while driving Sunday morning with Mrs. McGowan and a little boy, on Fifth, between Princess and Chestnut streets, was thrown out of the buggy and suffered a fracture of the leg just above the ankle. Mrs. McGowan and the little boy were also thrown out but they escaped with a few bruises. Mr. Weldon, who is 62 years of age, was sent to the hospital for treatment. The horse became frightened and made a dash, throwing the occupants to the macadam street.

TO AID SHIPPING

Revenue Cutter Seminole Hurries to Vessels in Distress Off This Coast.

ONE IN AT OCRACOKE

Narrow Escape of Crew Off Nag's Head—Norwegian Barque in Trouble—Wilmington Bound Vessels Had Rough Passage.

To ...

The United States Revenue Cutter Seminale, stationed at this port, received hurry orders Sunday morning to proceed at once to Ocracoke Inlet, N. C., and vicinity to be of any assistance possible to shipping known to be in distress along the coast of North Carolina by reason of the storm of the preceding few days. The cutter was under steam and proceeded at once to Ocracoke, finding there the schooner Laura L. Sprague, Capt. Peirce, of Marblehead, Mass., ashore just off the inlet. Life savers succeeded in getting ashore all the schooner's crew and were carying for them at the station. It was reported last night here that the cutter had succeeded in towing the vessel in and was giving attention to other vessels in distress along the coast, one of which was the four-masted schooner Louis Bossert, which was blown ashore off Nag's Head, N. C. Ten persons, two of whom are women, were rescued by the life savers at the Nag's Head station. The schooner was bound from New York to Wiggins, S. C., for cargo of lumber and was swept out of her course by the storm. Shortly after midnight Saturday she ran on the beach and was sighted by the watch at the life saving station. On account of the heavy seas running no attempt was made to launch the boats and a line was shot over the schooner and the breeches buoy was run out. When the surfmen pulled it in they were surprised to find a woman passenger, a daughter of Capt. Fletcher, the master of the derelict, who also had his wife on board. Then one by one the seven men of the crew were brought in and last the captain. The schooner was high on the beach and a wrecking tug was sent out from Norfolk. The Louis Bossert is owned in New York and is 610 gross tons. She was built in Bath, Me., in 1904.

The schooner J. S. Hoskins, Capt. Gayle, which arrived in port Sunday from Baltimore, with cargo of fertilizers for the Armour Company, was in the storm of the past week and Capt. Gayle was blown by his destination at this port 190 miles. He reported a very rough passage down the coast, but his staunch little craft of 392 tons net rode the gale out splendidly and he reached port with no damage to speak of.

The schooner Nimbus, Capt. Peck, also arrived Sunday from Newport News in tow of the tug Alexander Jones, which went for her the past week. The schooner has cargo of fertilizers from Carteret, N. J., for the Pocomoke Guano Company. The Jones with her tow, a vessel loaded and leaking slightly, also encountered the gale down the coast, and Capt. W. A. Sanders, who was in charge, also reports a very severe passage. It was the first time the Jones has been put to the test since she was recently overhauled and she behaved splendidly. A less powerful tug would not have been able to ride out the storm with the tow in the magnificent manner the Jones did. The Nimbus is a vessel of over 800 tons and on the voyage down from Carteret sprang a leak, making it necessary for her to take tow from Hampton Roads to Wilmington.

Other reports of disaster to shipping off the coast during the storm are contained in the following Associated Press dispatches to the Star last night:

Norfolk, a., April 8.—The British steamship Olivemoor, bound from Mobile, Ala., for Bristol, England, picked up at sea off the North Carolina coast yesterday, fifteen of the 18 members of the crew of the Norwegian barque Hereford bound from Pensacola, Fla., March 16, for Buenos Ayres, which was dismasted in the fierce coast storm of April 1st, and was helpless at sea until sighted by the Olivemoor.

Three members of the Hereford's crew were washed overboard and drowned. Captain Jensen, commanding the barque, was crippled by a falling mast and rigging and the first mate whose name was not given, is badly injured.

So badly hurt were the captain and mate that the Olivemoor discontinued her voyage to bring the seamen in for hospital treatment. The shipwrecked men will be turned over to the Norwegian vice consul here and the Olivemoor will proceed at once on her voyage to England.

—By deed filed for record yesterday J. F. Garrell & Co., Incorporated, transferred to Joseph H. Hinton, for $500 and other considerations, property in Cape Fear township, on west side of the macadam road leading from Wilmington to Castle Haynes. Herbert McClammy, commissioner, by deed also filed for record yesterday, transferred to Ruth E. Curtis, for $750, an undivided one-third interest in property on east side of Second, 73 feet south of Market street, 57x70 feet in size.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

The press dispatches a few days ago announced from Altoona, Pa., a discovery that means the saving of millions of dollars throughout this country, if some newspaper correspondent is not faking us. However, it seems that some men of scientific knowledge have investigated the alleged discovery and have been convinced of its actual fact and great value. The story goes that John Ellmore, a poor shoemaker of Altoona, had really succeeded in producing a compound which causes coal ashes, when mixed with a small quantity of coal ,to create a heat of greater intensity than that from the highest grade of coal when fanned by a forced draught. It is said that the compound increases the heating quality of coal four-fold and will proportionally restrict its use and the value of the fuel at the mine. We are told that two teaspoonfuls of Ellmore's compound costing 25 cents, dissolved in three gallons of water, are sufficient to treat three-quarters of a ton of ashes mixed with one-quarter of a ton of coal, and will bring out more heat for a longer period than one ton of pure bituminous or anthracite coal. In a recent interview Dr. H. K. Koy, a leading physician of Altoona, who has interested himself in Ellmore's discovery says:

"I have demonstrated to my own satisfaction, and 'the engineer of the Edison electric light has had it demonstrated to his, that Ellmore can make one ton of coal do the work of four tons and do it more effectually. At the same time, he will utilize a waste product that has hitherto been regarded as worthless, but which he can use over and over again until a clinker ar slag is the final residuum and may be sold at a profit for road building. Ellmore is so afraid that his secret will be stolen from him before his patent is granted that he buys his ingredients in different States and has them consigned under different names, and the mixing is done in secret. The manufacturing world will unquestionably be affected by the discovery, and it is purely a logical conclusion to say that the output from the coal mines will be cut down."

In the above we have a doctor telling us that he has looked into Ellmore's discovery and that it makes good. If it is true, the shoemaker will be a great benefactor to consumers of coal and naturally he deserves to get rich. If the story is a fake it has caught many a newspaper, for they are gravely discussing the discovery in an editorial way. It can be said that it is evident that Ellmore has invented either a wonderful compound or a "fake" almost as great as the Keeley motor. However, let us hope that he has made a really great and wonderful discovery which will prove to be a solar plexus blow to the coal trust, for if it be true that with the use of his compound one ton of coal can be made to serve the purpose of four tons as fuel for heating, it means that the American people will keep in their own pockets many millions of dollars that now find their way into the pockets of the trust. But when one tihnks over it the story sounds too good to be true.

The Ellmore discovery not only concerns the users of coal for domestic purposes but manufacturers will be equally if not more largely benefited.

RICE PROFITABLE ON UP-LANDS.

Mr. H. B. Howard, a North Carolina farmer, recently wrote the following to the Progressive Farmer, North Carolina's splendid agricultural paper published at Raleigh:

"The rice I plant is not the short round rice usually known as 'the highland rice,' but is the long white pearly looking rice that most people think will grow only in low-land or the tide-water section. The crop of rice, so far as I have had experience with it, has more than doubled in value the cotton that I could have made on the same land with the same amount of fertilizer; while the cost of cultivating and harvesting is less than one-half that of cotton. I might add here that this poor sandy land that I had in rice last year netted me $50 per acre clear of all expense whatever. How many of your readers beat that last year with cotton, even on good land? I think every farmer in the State ought to plant enough of this rice for the table at home; it is so much better, sweeter, and more nutritious than that we buy at the stores, and which has been on the market nobody knows how long."

Mr. Howard had grown rice on uplands three years in succession on sandy land without any clay sub-soil. He wrote the Progressive Farmer that he broke the land deep with a two-horse plow and stated that his crop of rice "has been fine every time."

Speaking of Mr. Howard's successful experience with rice, the Raleigh News and Observer remarks:

"The growing of rice was once a large and flourishing industry in New Hanover, Brunswick and adjacent counties. Of late years this crop has not been grown extensively and farmers have turned their attention to other crops. Why they should do so is not clear, except the labor problem, for it is a profitable crop."

Rice is still profitably grown on the Cape Fear around Wilmington, but not on as extensive scale as was the case years ago. One reason that the industry has declined is that the lands have been allowed to go to waste. There is plenty of good rice land in this section, capable of producing the very finest grade of rice, as it does, and all that is needed is the capital to redeem the lands and put them in a condition to use machinery, as is the case in Louisiana and Texas.

DENATURED ALCOHOL MONOPOLY

We have been counting on denatured alcohol to do much for us in the way of successful competition with kerosene oil, gasoline, benzine and other products of petroleum. The continued discussion of denatured alcohol and its great variety of uses, has led us to believe that we will get our lights, fuel and engine-running fluid cheaper, and if we cannot do that it may at least serve the purpose of competing with petroleum products and thus prevent the price from going up on us from time to time.

It is believed that denatured alcohol will do all for us that is claimed for it, but to make sure that it will it is advocated that the duty on denatured alcohol in Europe be lowered. Right here, however, the Republicans will step in and say if you want the denatured alcohol industry built up here, keep the foreign stuff out by a high tariff. It is feared altogether that we will have so much protection and other legislation about it, that we will finally get little benefit out of it.

Germany is today leading the world in the manufacture of denatured alcohol and it is said that the German government is determined to keep the price down and make that country independent of a foreign fuel supply in case of war. The Brooklyn Citizen is doubtful, however, whether we will follow Germany's lead in that direction, and that paper makes this hit at the protection doctrine:

"It may be different here as long as our government favors monppolies; for though oil and water will not mix, oil and alcohol will if allowed, and if the Republicans remain in power, an agreement between the protected alcohol producers and the Oil Trust whereby the price of both oil and alcohol should be maintained as they have fixed it already, is only to be expected."

It will be pretty hard to keep either the manufacture or distribution of denatured alcohol from becoming a monopoly under the Republican system.

DEATH FOR KIDNAPING.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch also favors the death penalty for kidnapers and adds this forceful contribution to the subject:

"The New York Herald says that such punishment should be meted out to the kidnaper on his conviction that were he to live to the age of Methuseleh he would not be free to make a second attempt at it. Kidnaping children should be dealt with in a manner so severe as to terrorize all criminals of this class.

"The Virginia Legislature of 1902-1903-1904 took the same view and enacted a law which provides that if any person kidnap another person with the intent to extort money on pecuniary benefit, he shall be punished with death, or, in the discretion of the jury, be confined in the penitentiary not less than eight nor more than eighteen years.

"There is no crime more cruel, and few more infamous, than to steal a child and hold it for a ransom. It is a crime against the child, a crime against the parent, and a crime against society. It is the meanest and most brutal expression of avarice, and the man who commits such a crime should pay the penalty with his life."

The grounds of the Times-Dispatch are well taken and briefly but convincingly sustained. The kidnaper should have no more showmig than the murderer, the assailant of innocent women, the burglar, or the villain who commits arson.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—Mr. Harriman ought to know where he stands, now that he has been told how he lies.—Washington Post.

—No matter who you believe, it appears to be a fact that Mr. Harriman gave the money and that Mr. Roosevelt got what he wanted.—Durham Herald.

—If Judge Parker doesn't practice a little more self-restraint when some one starts a rough house, he may in time become known as the political Mr. Buttinsky.—Washington Post.

—It is not that they began life humbly that entitles our great men to public regard, but that they did not remain humble.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

—Foraker says he doesn't want any political honors from the people of Ohio without their hearty approval. He will not sit down, however, and wait for others to work up the approval.—Chicago Record-Herald.

—Now, if President Roosevelt could send a United States Senator to prison merely because of a personal prejudice, does anybody suppose that Foraker and Tillman would be going around as chipper as they are?—Kansas City Star.

—Why did the President mark his letters to Harriman "strictly confidential" if he merely wanted to talk to him on railroad matters? He insists on talking from the housetops on that question, as railroad presidents who recently visited him found to their discomfort.—Macon Telegraph.

—The Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce has recently issued a book containing the likeness and biographies of "twenty-eight distinguished sons" of that city. One of these is Arthur Nevin, whose marriage to the divorced wife of his friend, Dr. Davis Dean, has just been announced. Another of the distinguished sons is a negro. But Pittsburg is such a smutty town that it is hard to draw the color line.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

—The country is to hear from the Congressmen who have visited Panama. Eight of them are planning lecture tours, in which they will tell what they saw on the Isthmus. The Secretary of the Canal Commission has been called on for pictures and lantern slides with which to illustrate the lectures. In this way the interest of the people in the great project on the Isthmus will be stimulated.—Newburg (N. Y.) Journal (Rep.

—The Rev. Oliver Dyer, the first person to master stenography in the United States, an associate editor with Robert Bonner in publishing the New York Ledger, and intimate of many prominent statesmen, and a well-known author, has just died in Boston at the age of seventy-two. His protege, Murphy, formerly his office boy, became the fastest stenographer in the world.—New Orleans State.

—"Do you think I can reach the heart of the haughty beauty?" sighed the sentimental youth with the guitar under his arm. "Better try tunneling, old man,' advised his friend. "Tunneling?" "Yes, I heard her say you were a great bore."—Chicago Daily News.

—Wiseman—"Did he really tell you you ought to get $50 out of that horse?" Dumley—"I suppose that's what he meant; he's rather slangy, you know." Wiseman—"Yes? What did he say exactly?" Dumley—"He said I ought to be able to get fifty bones out of it."—Philadelphia Press.

AGE NO BAR.

Everybody in Wilmington is Eligible.

Old people stooped with suffering,
Middle age, courageously fighting,
Youth, protesting impatiently;
Children, unable to explain;
All in misery from their kidneys.
Only a little backache first.
Comes when you catch a cold.
Or when you strain the back.
Many complications follow.
Urinary disorders, diabetes, Bright's disease.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure backache.
Cure every form of kidney ills.

J. T. Ebert, formerly of 515 South Sixth St., Wilmington, N. C., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills in my family. My little girl complained of severe pains in the small of her back, and the kidney secretions were dark and full of brickdust sediment. We were very much worried about her, and when I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I went up to R. R. Bellamy's drug store and got a box and gave them to her. Since using them she has improved wonderfully and is a different child. Her kidney secretions cleared up, she does not complain of her back, and, in fact, Doan's Kidney Pills gave her new life. We are very much pleased with them and you can use my name and welcome."

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average baldheaded man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

THEIR CRYSTAL WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Richter Delightfully Celebrated Last Night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Richter last evening at their hospitable home, No. 609 Ann street, most delightfully celebrated the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage or their "crystal wedding." The home was cery prettily decorated in honor of the occasion and it was thronged with friends who called during the evening to pay their respects and to wish the host and hostess many happy returns. Mrs. Richter was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Henry Habenicht, Mrs. J. H. Bornemann and Mrs. G. J. Simon, and the guests were charmed with the delightful entertainment afforded them. A number of young lady friends also assisted Mrs. Richter in the manifold duties of a reception of such an elaborate nature. An elegant supper was served during the evening and the health and happiness of the couple was drunk in many happy little speeches, one of these being by Mr. M. G. Tiencken, an honored member of the City Board of Audit and Finance.

Mr. and Mrs. Richter, nee Miss Julienne S. Habenicht, were married in Charleston, S. C., on the 7th of April, 1892, but the anniversary occurring on Sunday the celebration was postponed until the following evening. They have lived in this city a number of years and are widely popular. This was attested last night by the large number of handsome gifts in beautiful cut glass and other crystal ware. Two little sons, Ferdinand, Jr., and Henry, have come to the household to bless the union, and last night they were congratulated quite as much as were the host and hostess. The crystal wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Richter will be a pleasant memory with all who were so fortunate as to be their guests last evening.

KU KLUX ON THE STAGE.

"The Clansman" at Academy for Two Performances Saturday.

Thomas Dixon's great play, "The Clansman," pictures the days when courage, self-sacrifice and chivalric deeds removed the fetters that held the Southern people in temporary bondage. For the first time in the history of the drama the Ku Klux Klan are shown upon the stage, habited, armed and mounted, and their weird ritual is performed before the affrightened spectator. In order to give realism to these scenes a troop of cavalry horses is carried on tour. With these and other sensational elements "The Clansman" cannot fail to duplicate its success of last season when it revisits the Academy Saturday matinee and night. Seats will be on sale Thursday.

FUNERAL, MRS. HERGENROTHER

Remains Laid to Rest Sunday Afternoon After Services at Church.

In the presence of many friends, impressive funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock from St. Thomas' Catholic Church over the remains of the late Mrs. Sabina Hergenrother, whose death occurred Saturday afternoon at the family home in this city. The services were by Rev. Father C. Dennen, rector of the church, and they were very impressive indeed. Many friends laid beautiful floral tributes upon the casket and were with the sorrowing ones to comfort them. The interment was in Oakdale cemetery, the pall-bearers having been Messrs Robert Green, Martin O'Brien, F. W. Westermann, Wm. Sheehan, Jr., M. H. Kelly, and Thomas E. Wallace. Mr. A. Hergenrother, who came from his home in the far North on account of the serious illness and death of his mother, returned last night.

Changes to Hamlet.

The last of the superintendent's office force left for Hamlet yesterday afternoon. Hereafter Hamlet will be the headquarters of the division so far as the operation of trains is concerned, and this is considered a great improvement in the facilities. Hamlet is the centre of the division, being located at the point where the two lines comprising the division have their junction. The second division extends north and south from Raleigh to Columbia and east and west from Columbia to Wilmington."

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

First Baptist Church Officers For the Ensuing Term.

The regular monthly meeting of the congregation of the First Baptist Church was held last night. In addition to routine matters, a recommendation made by the pastor called forth some discussion. The recommendation which precipitated an argument was to the effect that the nominating committee on officers for the ensuing twelve months select men not now officials. There are ninety officials of the church and it was thought by some that the instructions to the committee on nomination to replace the entire board regardless of efficiency, was extreme.

East Wilmington Affair.

Justice Bornemann yesterday evening at 6 o'clock continued his investigation of the small-sized riot that occurred at a "festibull" in East Wilmington one night last week, Robert D. Willie, one of the merrymakers having been carved up prettly badly with a knife. The defendants yesterday were Louis Farrow, Willie Lane, John Henry Newkirk and Fred Williams, each of whom was charged with an assault with a deadly weapon. B. G. Empie, Esq., appeared for the State, and Herbert McClammy, Esq., for the defense. Seventeen witnesses, all of whom Justice Bornemann said were eligible for charter membership in the Ananias Club, were examined, but no one seemed to know who did the stunt with the knife, and all were discharged.

She was 28 years of age and her death was greatly deplored by those who knew her. The remains were removed from the hospital Sunday night to the residence of a relative, Mr. W. A. McGowan, No. 507 South Front street, and after funeral services by the Rev. K. D. Holmes from there at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the casket was taken to the family home at Rowland for interment. The pall-bearers from the residence of Mr. McGowan to the station were Messrs. CAUTION ON WALL STREET

Many Millions Soon to Go Out For Railroad Stock Issues.

New York, April 8.—The stock market showed increasing indications today of lapsing into professional hands and those of the smaller class of operators. The frequent turns in the course of prices, the narrowness of the fluctuations and the notable shrinkage in the aggregate sales for the day all pointed unmistakably to the abstention from the market of any large and consistent class of operators. This was the response of the market to a rather general note of warning from responsible sources of the rate and the extent to which the rebound was running after the recent extreme depression. In the money market situation particularly although the reality of the relaxation from stringency is not questioned on any hand, there is cautious inquiry as to the adequacy of the relief to meet the needs to be faced. Today's maturity of four 10 per cent. installments of new Great Northern preferred stock, calling for $24,000,000, directs attention to the monthly recurrence for sometime to come of a five per cent installment of the subscriptions. For Northern Pacific new stock subscriptions also there will fall due quarterly installments of 12 1-2 per cent. beginning July 1st, each of which will call for upwards of $1,000,000, while for St. Paul's $100,000,000 new stock 15 per cent. is payable June 1st and 20 per cent. installments on three half yearly periods after that, with a final 15 per cent. to be paid in March, 1909. In the meantime, large note issues by corporations will mature, which are expected to call for refunding with success dependent upon a revival of the demand for bonds.

Brokerage houses today reported a small volume of orders for stocks, and early attempts to advance prices quite generally met with supplies of stocks which turned the room traders to the bear side of the market. The resulting decline was incompletely recovered later and the closing tone was rather heavy.

The irregular tone of the bond market showed some reactionary tendency from the recent uniform strength. Total sales par value $2,068,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales stocks today were 851,000 shares.

WAR DRAGGING ON THE ISTHMUS

Signs That Nicaragua Has Had Walk-Over Against Two Republics.

BELIVED WAR IS OVER

Honduras Surrendered Port Without Fighting, as It Was Useless to Prolong Histilities—Bombardment Not Permitted.

(By Cable to the Morning Star.)

New Orleans, April 8.—Puerto Cortez, one of the principal ports of Honduras, has surrendered without fighting. About 1,500 Honduran soldiers abandoned the port two days before the Nicaraguan troops appeared.

The Hondurans did not desert their post through cowardice but decided that the war was over. They returned to the banana plantations where most of them had been employed as laborers before the war began.

The following proclamation was issued by Commander Fullam of the Marietta, and Virgil C. Reynolds, United States Vice-Consul:

"To the people of Ceiba: The Generals of the Honduran army having left Ceiba, the civil authorities will assume charge of the city government. Any liquor saloons will be immediately closed and will remain so.

"Sailors from the U. S. S. Marietta will patrol the streets and assist the civil authorities to preserve order and protect property, foreign or private. The sailors are landed as friends of Honduras. All persons are warned that there must be no disorder or violation of the law of Honduras and all are advised to remain in their homes for the present. In case Nicaraguan forces concentrate at Ceiba they will not interfere with law-abiding people and there need be no alarm whatever."

An authoritative statement of great moment in the relations of the United States o Cenral American republics has been given here. It is to the effect that bombardments of coast towns cannot be permitted "during the frequent wars and revolutions in Central American States."

The statement is by Commander Fullam, of the United States gunboat Marietta, and is part of a letter to General Estrada, general commanding the Nicaragua expedition engaged in capturing Honduran ports. In part the letter read:

"It must be perfectly plain that foreign interests could not possibly be secure if bombardments are permitted. On the contrary, such interests would be subjected to the danger of complete destruction in every case. If bombardments of coast towns are to be resorted to during the frequent wars and revolutions in Central American States, the mercantile interests of all foreigners will be absolutely insecure in the future."

From this it is plainly evident that assurances regarding the safety of American and foreign interests would be of no value whatever unless bombardments of these unfortified wooden towns are forbidden, and it is equally plain that a ship of war ordered here to protect American interests could not be excused for subjecting these same interests to inevitable ruin by permitting the destruction of these towns by fire and bombardment.

To Capture Another Port.

Mobile, Ala., April 8.—Advices received today from Commander William F. Fullam, of the United States gunboat Marietta, via steamer Colombia, says that Ceiba was taken on the evening of April 3 by the Nicaraguan armies.

Ceiba was taken without a shot being fired. After taking Ceiba the Nicaraguan forces left for Puerto Cortez on board the gunboat Ometepe, a gasoline launch and a small gunboat. They were preceded to Cortez by the Marietta to protect American interests.

It had been agreed between Commander Estrada of the Nicaraguan force and Commander Fullam of the Marietta that Puerto Cortez should not be bombarded.

MARKET QUOTATIONS PROPERTY

United States Supreme Court Sustains Tennessee Court.

Washington, April 8.—In an opinion by Justice McKenna the Supreme Court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the United States Circuit Court for the Western District of Tennessee, in the case of Clarence P. Hunt, a cotton broker of Memphis, Tenn., vs. the New York Cotton Exchange. The suit was brought in the Circuit Court by the Exchange to secure an injunction against Hunt prohibiting him from receiving or using its quotations contrary to the regulations of the Exchange and the injunction was granted by that court as prayed for. The principal point of controversy in the case was that of jurisdiction, and the court, holding that stock quotations are property, decided that he case was one in which it could take cognizance. The court also took account of the fact that the Tennessee State courts had the case under consideraion but held that that circumsance could not prevent action by the Federal courts.

Doing Business Again.

"When my friends thought I was about to take leave of this world, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility," writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily." Best tonic medicine on earth. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, druggist. 50c.

ANOTHER NEW YORK TRAGEDY.

Prominent Physician Charged With Murder of His Wife.

New York, April 8.—Samuel S. Guy, a prominent dentist of Far Rockaway, and for a number of years until recently coroner at Queensboro, is under arrest charged with the murder of his wife in their home tonight.

The woman's body was found lying on the dining floor with two bullet wounds in the breast. Dr. Guy was arrested as he was leaving the house and just as a servant came screaming from one of the doors and hysterically told a policeman that her mistress was dead.

Late this afternoon the doctor came from a saloon near his residence and entered his home. It is alleged that he went to the kitchen and annoyed a servant for some minutes, finally being induced to leave the girl by his wife. The servant says that as the husband and wife entered the dining room Mrs. Guy slapped his face. Immediately afterward the door closed and in a few moments two shots startled the girl.

Dr. Guy walked to the hall, took down his overcoat and started out of the house. A policeman met him and asked him where he was going.

"Just to get a cigar," said the doctor coolly.

A few seconds later the cries of the servant were heard and the doctor was promptly arrested.

Mrs. Guy was 42 years old and her husband 56. She was a descendant of the Mott family, which owned practically all of the Rockaways, and the members of which are accounted very wealthy.

DEATH OF DR. PAUL MENZEL.

Was Distinguished Lutheran Minister and Composer of Church Music.

Richmond, Va., April 8.—Rev. Dr. Paul Menzel, pastor of the St. John's German Evangelical Church here, died today. He was born in Lucerne, Switzerland, March 5, 1839, and had been in this country for twenty-one years, coming directly to Richmond and assuming charge of the church, over which he had since continuously presided. Eight years ago he represented America at the delcation of the Evangelical Church in Jerusalem, being selected by the American Lutheran Synod for this service. He had also established quite a reputation as an author and as a musical composer, much Lutheran Church music having been composed by him. He was, at the time of his death, president of the Lutheran Synod in this country.

—Statesville, April 5: This afternoon about 4 o'clock a fearful explosion occurred at the plant of the O. W. Slaine Glass Company and, as a result, several hundred dollars worth of glass is shattered. Mr. Fred Slaine is in Long's anitarium, Mr. Baldy Guy is painfully injured and a number of others were slightly burned. Mr. Slaine was examining a large can containing several gallons of refined alcoholl. He knew the danger of the alcohol, but for some unexplainned reason it is supposed struck a match to look in the can. The alcohol in the can exploded instantly, followed by the explosion of a barrel sitting near. Mr. Slaine was hurled into the air and when he struck the floor he was enveloped in flames. He rushed from the building, followed by his brother, Mr. Oscar Slaine, and a number of other workmen. They threw the burning man to the ground and began tearing the clothes from his body. One man who had on a wet apron did very effective work and possibly saved Mr. Slaine's life. Mr. Slaine was still conscious and stated that he could give no reason for his act. At last report, although he was resting well, it is feared that Mr. Slaine inhaled some of the alcohol and his condition is critical.

Three men were instantly killed at Hillsville, Pa., yesterday, by an explosion of a ton of powder at the plant of the Burton Powder Company. A spark is supposed to have dropped into the powder. John King, of Lowellville, aged 30 years, and two Italians were the vctims.

Jos. Varroi, a master mechanic employed by the contractors who are digging the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel under the East River from Manhattan to Long Island City, was crushed to death in a stone crusher in Long Island City yesterday. Varroi was inspecting the crushers when his clothing was caught in the machinery and he was drawn into the machine despite the frantic efforts of the workmen to free him.

WOMEN OF HOLLAND.

Dutch Feminine Costumes Are Too Complex For Words.

The women's costume is a trifle too complex for verbal description, as feminine belongings usually are, but the white lace cap which covers the head from eyebrows to nape of neck and from ear to ear, curving out in rounded wings on each side of her cheeks, is always a conspicuous and inevitable portion of a woman's attire. It may possibly be that on Sunday this cap is a trifle whiter or stiffer or daintier than on week days, but the difference is not very apparent.

The ladies assure us there is a vast difference in the quality of the net and the amount of handiwork employed, but the lens made no special note of that. In shape and outline the camera finds great distinction between these caps and those of Katwyk or Marken or Bois le Duc, but between Sunday and Monday caps in Volendam it records none whatever. For the rest of the costume feminine Holland asks above all things apparently a very flat, narrow chest surmounting enormous hips, and Volendam is no exception to this fashion rule. The invariable black "best waist" of the elder women is usually brightened by a square yoke of lighter color and material, and the dark apron or overskirt is topped by six inches or more of gay plaid or bright colored band worn over an underskirt of dull blue striped or black material and uncountable petticoats. About the throat a collar formed of many rows of heavy dark red coral beads is fastened by huge silver clasps, and the number of rows, the size and quality of the beads are matters for feminine pride. Long hair is not the glory of women in Holland, save perhaps at Marken. It is usually hidden and at Volendam is cut quite close and entirely covered by a tight fitting thick black silk cap concealed beneath the snowy white lace. The younger girls, from the tiniest toddler to the young meisje, old enough to wed, wear dresses and caps the exact counterpart of their grave mothers, no less full of skirt or narrow of chest, but much gayer in color. A group of tiny maidens in a stiff breeze on the dike resembles nothing more than a swarm of butterflies.—Florence Craig Albrecht in Scribner's.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

No small noise sounds as bad as that made by squeaky shoes.

Lift any little woman's thumb and you will find a man under it.

How few people are as polite to their friends as they are to strangers!

People seem to begrudge a preacher everything he gets except his vacation.

The child that is ruled by love and the child that has its own way live at the same house.

If you were a mind reader you would learn a lot of unpleasant things which now you can only surmise.

The man who prides himself on being a "great observer of little things" can usually be relied upon for a few unpleasant remarks.

Soon after a boy ceases to credit his father with being the smartest man on earth he imagines his father should consult him on all doubtful issues.—Atchison Globe.

Inflection.

The wife of an army officer at a western post recently had occasion to visit a small neighboring town to do some shopping at what is called the general store. She was much entertained by the variety and antiquity of the stock of goods, and as she passed out her eyes were attracted by a pile of mottoes, elaborately lettered and ornately framed, the upper one being the Scriptural passage, "Walk in love."

As she paused the clerk, a dapper young man of more affability than advantages, stepped forward with the remark: "Them are the latest things in mottoes. This top one is swell to put over a young lady's door—'Walk in, love.'"—Lippincott's.

The Outdoor Boy.

Let the boy learn to hit the bright spot with a rifle, and if war comes he can hit the button on the coat of an enemy the first shot and does not have to be taught to shoot over again after he enlists. If he is familiar with guns, boats, water and the wild woods, he will be handy anywhere, and you can't lose him. Any boy who has got a father who won't do the right thing by him and give him a chance to love the woods and the water and the free, clean air that God serves free, when you get far enough away from man's city can come along with me some time, and I will show him how to have the time of his life.—Outer's Book.

He'll Get the Girl.

Tommy Rattles was turned down when he asked Elsie's father for his consent. The old man said that Tommy was a good boy, but lacked persistency.

What is Tommy going to do about it?

He goes to the old man and asks him for his daughter three evenings every week.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Reformation.

"Yes," said the reformed cannibal chief, "I used to eat every missionary that came out here."

"That was before you got religion, eh?" queried the new missionary.

"No; before I got indigestion."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Learning.

Soker—I won $50 from Bings last night playing poker.

Joker—Why, does Bings know how to play poker?

Soker—Not yet.—Lippincott's Magazine.

—A number of enterprising citizens of Wadesboro are subscribing stock for a company which the Secretary of State will be asked to incorporate for the purpose of putting in a sewerage system for the town.

—The Royal Cotton Mills, of Wake Forest, have awarded a contract to Winningham & Fories, of Greensboro, to erect an edition to the factory building. The plant will be doubled, the number of spindles to be increased from 7,264 to 15,000 The mill turns out lace curtain and sheeting yarns.

—Shelby, April 6: Subscription books for a bonded warehouse holding company, capital one hundred thousand dollars, were opened here today. The subscribers to the same are leading farmers, merchants and bankers. The plan was presented by E. D. Smith and C. C. Moore, of the Southern Cotton Association.

—Raleigh News and Observer, April 7: Consequent to the issuance of warrants for about seventy women in Raleigh of questionable or bad character a few days ago by Justice of the Peace H H. Roberts, about twenty-five of them left the city within two days. Eleven of them, white women left in one night. Eight of the cases have been disposed of, about half of them resulting in a dismissal of the defendants, for want of evidence to convict.

—Raleigh News and Observer, April 7: Major and Quartermaster J. W. iLttle, U. S. A., has recently notified Mrs. Margaret Busbee Shipp of the order of the Quartermaster's Department that one of the new sixty foot steamers to be used in the harbor work of the Coast Artillery will be named after her gallant husband, Lieutenant W. E. Shipp, of the Tenth Cavalry, who was killed in the battle of San Juan Hill at Santiago, in July, 1898. The steamer will be put in commission on the harbor work at the entrance to Tampa Bay, being connected with headquarters at Fort McDade.

—Chapel Hill, April 6: The whole community was shocked Sunday evening when the news of the death of Mr. Walter C. Lloyd was received He died sitting in a buggy on the road between White Cross and Chapel Hill. He and his uncle, W. P. Lloyd, spent the day with Mr. Lloyd's father, Albert Lloyd, who lives at White Cross. n the afternoon he and his uncle hitched up and were on their way home when Mr. Lloyd leaned his head on the back of the seat as if asleep. Nothing more was thought about it until his uncle reached home, took out his horse and tried to awake his nephew, but he was cold in death.

—Tarboro, April 6: The Rialto or lower portion of Main street will soon have all its business houses of brick. Three brick stores on the west side are to be erected this summer. On the opposite side of the street, besides the two stores which Thad Hussey will have erected by July first C. B. Keech has closed a contract with George Howard to erect another adjoining these replacing the wooden structure now occupied by J. L. Faithful. The property below and next to this has on it a wooden building which David Cummings, the owner, says will be replaced with one or two brick stores, the number depending upon securing a right-of way in the rear from Granville street.

—Raleigh News and Observer, April 7: An examination of the recently introduced "baggage ordinance" now pending before the Board of Aldermen and to be considered at the next meeting, discloses what appears to be a piece of city legislation which would serve to give over the entire business of transferring baggage within the city to one corporation. By the terms of the ordinance, not only would the number of city drays, many of which now compete for baggage business, be put entirely out of commission as far as this line of work is concerned, but the people of the city would practically be compelled to patronize one concern and to pay what—in the light of former conditions—is an exhorbitant price for the service. Under the terms of the new ordinance, no one would be permitted to engage in the transfer business without first giving a bond for five hundred dollars, obtaining from the city clerk a number and badge entitled "City Baggage Transfer," and unless every person engaging in such business runs as many as three different transfer wagons.

THE COTTON MARKET.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, April 8.—The cotton market was quiet today, sales being estimated at only 75,000 bales, and fluctuations were narrow. The general tone seemed to be steady in the absence of important offerings, however, and the market closed steady net unchanged to 2 points higher. The opening was steady at opening prices to a decline of 3 points and the active months generall sold about 3 to 4 points net lower, immediately after the call under scattering liquidation and bearish pressure encouraged by lower cables than expected, reports of favorable rains in the eastern and central belt and claims of a less active spot demand. At the decline there was covering and what seemed to be bull support and with offerings light the market rallied, the advance being helped by the firmness of May at New Orleans, where that position advanced 10 points above the closing figures of last week. After selling some 4 points net higher, the market turned rather irregular closing a shade off from the best on the active months. There were some further complaints of dry weather from the Southwest and a Memphis wire reported that the only spot demand was from Southern mills. Receipts were about even with last year's and a light estimate for Houston and New Orleans was followed by heavier figures from Galveston. Southern spot markets were unchanged to 1-16c lower.

Receipts at the ports today 18,407 bales against 13,035 last week and 17,084 last year. For the week 90,000 bales against 110,127 last week and 115,676 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 2,901 bales against 5,852 last year and at Houston 4,284 bales against 2,748 last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet; middling uplands 11.00; middling gulf 11.25; sales 200 bales. Futures closed steady.

FATE OF THAW NEARING CRISIS

Argument Commenced Bcfore Jury Yesterday By Attorney Delphin Delmas.

HE SPEAKS AGAIN TO-DAY

Evelyn Thaw Sat and Heard Her Husband's Lawyer Terribly Arraign Her Mother—Jury May Reach Verdict Tomorrow Evening.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, April 8.—The trial of Harry K. Thaw, charged with the murder of Stanford White, is nearing the end. Attorney Delphin M. Delmas, the Californian, advocate, this afternoon began his closing address to the jury and after he had spoken for more than two hours and a half, an adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning.

Mr. Delmas expects to conclude before the luncheon hour is reached. District Attorney Jerome will make the closing address of the trial on Wednesday, and Thaw's fate should be in the hands of the jury by Wednesday evening.

Justice Fitzgerald today ordered the jury locked up until the end of the trial. In view of this, the judge's charge to the jury undoubtedly will be delivered immediately after the district attorney concludes. The latter says his speech will occupy not more than three or four hours.

Declaring he would not base his plea upon the "unwritten law" because his client found ample protection in written statutes of the State of New York, Mr. Delmas made a striking appeal to the sympathies of the jurors and so far as he proceeded today the subject of Thaw's insanity at the time he committed the homicide was not even hinted at.

Mr. Delmas based his argument solely upon the story of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. With flushed cheeks, but dry eyes, that young woman heard her life history repeated to the men who are to judge her husband and bowed her head as her mother was denounced in the bitterest terms and tones the eloquent lawyer could command.

"Even a beast protects its young," he declared with scornful emphasis, but this unnatural mother deserted her daughter in this city of millions to be betrayed by a false friend, to be lured into a gilded palace and there left the victim of a gray-haired man, wounded, bleeding and devoured."

Mr. Delmas went with great detail into the life Elevly Nesbit had led up to the meeting with Harry Thaw. In all of his remarks he referred to her as "this child," for child he said she was today. He told of Thaw's great lover for her and his efforts to rescue her from "the clutches of Stanford White," whose achievements in his profession ,the attorney declared, wer an aggravation of his crime.

Mr. Delmas before beginning his attack upon Evelyn Thaw's mother, poured out a torrent of denunciation upon the architect who became the victim of Thaw's pistol. He accused him of the "crime of rape," and then declared that President Roosevelt had said in a mesage to Congress that such a crime should be visited with death. This was one of the suggestions which Thaw himself made to his counsel for his summing-up speech —one of the sugegstions which played so important a part in the proceedings before the lunacy commission.

Mr. Delmas declared that God heard the cry of the fated child upon whom Stanford White had fixed his gaze and had determined destruction should be his. He quoted from Scripture that "He who afflicts a fatherless child shall perish," and declared that Providence had sent Thaw to avenge the wrong.

The attorney declared that Thaw was his wife's only protector—that he came into her life when she was on the downward path, told her that no matter what the world thought of her, she was to him an angel. He took her to be his wife, ready to share the burdens that a mother had helped to place upon her daughter.

Mr. Delmas accused Mrs. Nesbit of having lived upon the wages of her daughter's ruin. He sought to picture to the jury what he termed the sinister surroundings in which the girl had been reared and in doing so he mercilessly attacked the mother. Mr. Delmas rose to the highest point of his address today when he told the jury that the girls' mother was the one who had furnished District Attorney Jerome with the arrows with which to wound the daughter on cross-examination — a cross-examination which, he declared, would live long in the annals of criminal history, but which left the girl's story unshaken in all its essential details.

That Evelyn Nesbit's story was true and was told to Harry Thaw formed the subject of the argument for more than an hour. Mr. Delmas declared the only evidence the district attorney had to bring against the girl was the "miscalled affidavit" procured by Abraham Hummel. Speaking of Hummel, Mr. Delmas again drew heavily upon his bitterest invective and declared that it would require more than the word of a perjured man to send Harry Thaw to an ignominous death. Hummel was accused by Mr. Delmas of having committer deliberate perjury upon the stand in the present trial when he swore he was not acting as Evelyn Nesbit's counsel and that no action was contemplated in her behalf. He said the so-called affidavit itself convicted the man of these falsehoods.

Mr. Delmas began his appeal to the jury by quoting from an utterance of District Attorney Jerome during the trial. He said:

"'We have no right, if the real facts were known, to be here trying this man and would be absolutely prohibited by the statutes.'

"Had you heard these words," continued the attorney, "from some irresponsible babbler instead of from an official charged with a great public duty; had they been spoken in a place where idle men resort to indulge in idle talk instead of in a tribunal wherein justice presided in solemnity; had the occasion on which they were uttered been some trivial discussion on some insignificant topic instead of a debate, the issue of which is life or death, and had you after so hearing them heard the same lips make an appeal to prove that the law demanded forfeit of the lofe of the man about whom they were spoken, these words might not have filled you with amazement.

"It is to prevent such a conclusion in this case," went on Mr. Delmas, "that I have undertaken the performance of the enorous task before me. In this task it will be my duty to give you all the help in my power in deciding the question before you." Mr. Delmas then gave a resume of Evelyn Nesbit's life from her birth in 1884 to the time she met Stanford White. Continuing, he said: "Brave and courageous, we find this child of 15 or 16 years of age, rushing in the day time from studio to studio earning $16 to $18 a week, and at night appearing upon the boards and earning an equal salary.

"At this time we find a man whose hair was tinged with gray, who had an excellent wife and an accomplished son, fixing his eyes upon the fated child and determining to make her his. To win her he had none of the graces or principles of the honorable suitor. He introduced himself into her family in the guise of an influential friend. He won his way into the confidence of the mother and established himself in a paternal and protecting attitude in the family, and when his footing was sure he persuaded the mother to absent herself from the city, assuring her that the child would be safe in his hands and telling her how fortunate it was that there was such a protector to watch over her. In one of those dens fitted up with all the beauty and taste which this man of genius possessed, into one of these dens this child was lured and found herself alone with this man, old enough to be her father, the man who was her protector.

"Had this man forgotten that when our Lord sat down a child among his disciples he said: 'Whosoever receiveth such a little child in My name he shall dwell with Me forever, but who shall offend a little one such as this, it were better that a millstone were tied about his neck and he were drowned in the depths of the sea.'

"He, gentlemen, who had erected a temple to Abraham had forgotten the words of the great Jehovah to the children of Israel, that he who afflicted a fatherless child should surely die.

"Oh, Stanford White, who entrapped a child who had no father, who had been deserted by her mother, and was left alone in a city of millions, had you imagined that God would not hear that cry? Had you forgotten that retribution would be at hand?"

When Mr. Delmas had completed his denunciation of Stanford White, he launched into a merciless attack on Evelyn Thaw's mother. He first recalled to the jury that in the early part of the trial, when the name of the mother was first mentioned he stated that he would not cast any reflecions upon her and held her guiltless, believing her to have been the helpless victim of circumstances. He then asked the jury to bear in mind that three things had not yet developed—that for years the mother received $300 a month from Stanford White; that the mother had given to the district attorney a written statement by which he might torture the soul of her daugher, by which he might leave her alone in the world—her father dead—her mother unnatural, her husband executed.

"When I learned that every shaft aimed at her heart came from a quiver supplied by her mother's, when I learned that it was the mother who was pointing out the sore and tender spots for the district attorney to attack, and when I learned that the poor babblings of a girl in school—her diary—had been furnished by the mother that they might be used against her daughter, I retracted, as I retract now, the statements which I made in behalf of the mother.

"Oh, shame upon this woman! Not content with what she has already done, she would take away the life of the one human being who came as an angel into the life of this girl on the downward path, who told the girl that whatever she might be in the eyes of a sinful and debauched world, he knew her soul was pure.

"Gentlemen, I think I have established to your satisfaction that this story was true, that it is not a fabrication—that Evelyn Thaw's satement that she told this story to Harry Thaw in Paris in 1903 is true.

"Against this assertio nwhat is there in this case?

"Nothing except the testimony of Abraham H. Hummel."

Delmas declared there must be something more than "this wretched Hummel affidavit upon which to convict Harry Thaw." He denounced Hummel as a man ready to commit crime for money.

Mr. Delmas' voice had grown quite husky by this time and he asked for an adjournment until tomorrow morning.

District Attorney Jerome was not in court to hear Mr. Delmas' speech. His assistant, Mr. Garvan, took notes, however. Mr. Jermoe, it was said, was busy with the preparation of his own address.

His motion was quickly overruled. The defense then sought to have Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton testify, but the district attorney intersposed an objection which was sustained.

Mr. Delmas then announced that the defense rested.

Mr. Jerome made a similar announcement and an adjournment was ordered until 2 o'clock that the jurors who were to be deprived of their liberty might adjust their business affairs.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN NEW YORK

Car Barns and Power of New York City Railway Burned.

LOSS EXCEEDS $1,500'000

More han Three Hundred Cars and Electrical Department Destroyed. One Fire Captain Killed and Several Firemen Injured.

New York, April 8.—Fire early today destroyed tht combined car barn and power plant of the New York City Railway Company, covering the greater part of the block, bounded by Lenox avenue, 147th street and Seventh avenue. The loss will reach $1,500,000. More than 300 cars were burned and the plant, except for the electrical department, was destroyed.

One fireman, Capt. J. Ryan, was killed under a falling wall, and a half a dozen firemen and others were more or less seriously injured. None of the injured is in a dangerous condition. The fire started in the big repair room where a large number of cars were stored.

Captain Ryan's engine with his crew, and the crews of two other engines, were working in an alley outside the building when an explosion in the paint room on the fourth floor ripped out the west wall, sending tons of brick down on the firemen and burying half a dozen of them in the ruins.

A hundred men with picks and shovels at once set to work to dig their comrades from the ruins. Captain Ryan was the man the first man taken from the pile of debris by the rescuers. He was horribly crushed but still alive when taken out in the rain.

A hundred men with picks and shovels at once set to work to dig their comrades from the ruins. Captain Ryan was horribly crushed but still alive when taken out. A priest knelt by his side and administered the last sacrament of the church a moment before Mr. Rryan died. One by one the other firemen were taken out. In the meantime the fire in the car barn had practically burned itself out and the flat houses in the rear had been damaged to the extent of $25,000.

New York Woman Willed President Her Property and Cat.

New York, April 8.—President Roosevelt is the sole beneficiary under the will of Lulu B. Grover, of No. 2089 Lexington avenue, which was filed in the office of the surrogate today. No petition was filed with the will and the value of President Roosevelt's bequests are, therefore, unknown. The main part of the will, which is very brief, reads as follows:

"I give to Theodore Roosevelt at my death everything that is mine, household furniture, personal property, jewelry, diamonds, estate, all money in bank to my credit and my cat, Snow Drip Low, and everything that is mine. I owe to Theodore Roosevelt a debt greater than I can ever pay in this world, and in this way I wish to show I am not ungrateful. He has been my good angel who spread his wing of shelter o'er my peace through life and was my only true friend in trouble. I gladly give my little all to him and only wish it were millions instead of so small an amount. I hope he will accept it in the spirit I give it and with God's blessing."

It has been announced that President Roosevelt will accept the estate bequeathed to him and turn it over to some New York charity. The cat is being cared for now under directions issued by the President.
